The market held remarkably strong through the first hour, in spite of continued exceptional weakness in Northtinued exceptional weakness in Northwestern. Early all the active issues made gains, ranging from small fractions up to two points. There was an immense crowd in Northwest at the opening, and as soon as business started the stock was under extreme pressure, being sold and offered down from 19½ to 193. Government bonds unchanged; trailroad and other bonds steady.

After the first hour the market continued its improvement, and toward noon there was no selling pressure in any part of the room. St. Paul, Union Pacific, and Southern Pacific were most prominent in the trading and made further moderate gains. The gains in the general list ranged from one to two points over the early prices.

FINANCIAL

President Henry K, Pomroy, of the tock exchange, is quoted as saying here should he national legislation thich would serve as a protection to the bublic against irresponsibly promoted mining schemes, similar to laws in Engand and Germany, which hold signers of prospectuses responsible for the truth of their statements.

Interests identified with the Chesapeake and Ohio road say that there is no truth in the report that the company had under way a plan for raising new funds. They say that the road at the present time has no financial needs. It was variously reported that the road was to issue $20,000,000 in new stock, and then that $10,000,000 might be raised on short term notes to secure money for terminal improvements at Richmond.

The Swiss Bankverein, the great bank of Switzerland, in its financial review of 1906, concerning the situation in the United States, says:

"Over-prosperity—this word, seems most apply to define the situation. The conclusion is forced upon dispassionate observers that the United States, by means of its excellent and well merited credit, may have entered into big engagements and may have incurred too far reaching liabilities, and this appears to be now admitted even by those judges who express their complete confidence in a continuance of the favorable conditions now obtaining on the American continent."

"In my judgment the United States nust come to a maximum and minimum ariff. A single straight out tariff is all tery well in a world of single, straight out tariff, but we have passed on in rearra into a world of maximum and hinimum tariff. With a single rate ariff we are left with very little opporunity to rectprocate good treatment from other countries and little opporunity to rectprocate bad treatment.

Other Addresses Before Convention: Officers Elected

Following Secretary Root, Dr. Jacon
J. Schurman, president of Cornell University, addressed the convention on matters of commerce. The principal feature of Dr. Schurman's address was his insistence upon the appointment of a committee for the purpose of defining a set course of study for the colleges of the country, best adapted to fitting the students for a life of committee the conditions of internal warfare and revolution and are acquiring stability of government.

"There will be safety for property in those countries, and the capacity to protect enterprise, so that we may look for tremendous increase of population and wealth throughout South America, and an enormous increase of population and wealth throughout South America, and an enormous increase of the purchasing power. These two conditions together spread before us an opportunity for trade unsurpassed in the world or in our history.

Bond of Trade Alliance.

"We have been allied politically with these countries, and now we have the opportunity to be allied with them by bonds of nersonal intercourse and profitable trade.

"With part of our accumulated wealth."

PHILADELPHIA, Jan, 15.-Mrs. Martha Hichborn Blaine, divorced wife of James G. Blaine, jr., and for years the most beautiful woman in Washington society, was married very quietly today ir the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel to Lieut. Paul Stafford Pearsall, of New York. A few intimate friends from New York and Washington witnessed the cere-mony performed by the Rev. Walter Walker, of Epiphany Church.

"For a woman it is never the second time," says one of the characters in Lagdon Mitchell's clever comedy in divorce, as she is about to be married after separating from the man who has proved a disappointment as a husband.

Those who saw the beautiful Mrs. Blaine walking through the pariors of the Bellevue-Stratford with her soldierly-looking later choice could uncerstand that the words of the Philadelphia dramatist were absolutely true, at least in this one case.

Lieutenant Pearsall was desperately in love with Martha Hichborn, the heliotrope girl, as she was generally khown in Washington society, from the color of the gowns she always wore, but she preferred James G. Blaine, fr., young, "For a woman it is never the second

Other Addresses

The next morning he was well looked at. The assembled sleuths were told to keep his face and figure in their minds, for in his way they were looking at a great man.

Tarbeau had not been in New York before in ten years, as far as the police know. He was a nember of the Jimmy larving and Porter gangs of bank burgilars and was the recognized leader of the Irving gang for a long time. He has done mind to fits thieving on the Continent, and he is known in every big city from London to St. Peteraburg.

One of his biggest hanls was in South Africa, where he and another crook got away with $100,690.

Their Work in London.

In 1885 Tarbeau and a crook known as "Big Hawley" turned up in London. They rented a house in the East End, and Hawley let it be known that he was the Hon. Willard Musgrave, a United States Senator, intting the students for a life of merce and trade. Hiss address was received with applause throughout.

In line with Secretary Root's declaration that the present administration so long as it was in power would conform to the present practice of making consular appointments according to merit, Hon. Ansley Wilcox introduced the following resolution, afterwards making an eddress on the merits of some:

"Whereas, the President, on June 27, and 1966, issued an Executive Order based from the Civil Service Act of January 16, and tion two days later.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow at 3 o'clock from the residence, the interment being at Mt.
Olivet Cemetery.

INDORSE GAS BILL.

The Columbia Heights Citizens' Association, through its secretary, W. B. Todd, today sent to the Commissioners a letter showing that that association has unanimously indorsed the move-ment for cheaper gas.
